Key Programming Software Update Volkswagen*
ADS2219 – Code D751950AD

May 2022

Advanced Diagnostics is pleased to announce a significant update for the ADS2219 software to include many new applications, thanks to updated key learning procedures and wider pin reading support.

What does the software do?

The updated ADS2219 software programs bladed keys and remotes to Volkswagen Group models fitted with an instrument cluster-based immobiliser and using a Megamos Crypto ID48 transponder.

Features include new key learning procedures, wider pin reading coverage, new procedures for calculating the missing seventh byte data from the vehicle (where applicable) and new calculation of missing data from the working key.

The procedures support all-keys-lost and add-key programming. The Smart Aerial is required for any calculations of the missing seventh byte data and for pre-coded key production, necessary for many vehicles manufactured after 2006.

Keys for all applications can be programmed following the user-friendly procedure on the Smart Pro.

What else will I need?
